Biographical Note

Noonuccal, Oodgeroo (1920-1993). "My name is Oodgeroo from the tribe of the Noonuccal, custodian of the land that the white man calls Stradbroke Island and that the Aboriginal people call Minjerriba."

Known for most of her life as the writer, painter and political activist, Kath Walker, in 1988 Oodgeroo resumed her traditional name and returned her MBE in protest at the condition of her people in the year of Australia's Bicentenary celebrations. Oodgeroo shared with her father the Dreaming totem the carpet snake (Kabul) and his sense of injustice.

Leaving school at the age of 13, Oodgeroo worked as a domestic servant until 1939, when she volunteered for service in the Australian Women's Army Service. Between 1961 and 1970, Oodgeroo achieved national prominence not only as the Queensland State Secretary of the Council for the Advancement of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders (CAATSI), but through her highly popular poetry and writing. With her 1964 collection of verse We Are Going, Oodgeroo became the first published Aboriginal woman. Selling out in three days, We Are Going rivalled the previous record for a publication of Australian verse set in 1916 by C. J. Dennis and his Moods of Ginger Mick.
The Dream Is at Hand (1966) was her second volume of poems. My People (1970) represented verse from the earlier editions as well as new poems, short stories, essays and speeches. Stradbroke Dreamtime was published in 1972. Oodgeroo also wrote a number of children's books - Father Sky and Mother Earth (1981), Little Fella (1986), and The Rainbow Serpent (1988) with her son, Kabul Oodgeroo Noonuccal (Vivian).

Oodgeroo was involved with many Aboriginal rights organisations. These organisations included the National Tribal Council, the Aboriginal Arts Board, the Aboriginal Housing Committee, and the Queensland Aboriginal Advancement League.

Oodgeroo spent her last days on Stradbroke Island where she established a cultural and environmental education centre known as Moongalba (resting-place).

Box 35
Folder of papers relating to film, Shadow Sister:

The film, Shadow Sister, was produced in 1977 by Frank Heimans. It is a film about Moongalba, made with Judith Wright and Oodgeroo Noonuccal. The title derives from Judith Wright's lines in her poem, “Two Dreamtimes”, written for Oodgeroo: “We are shadow sisters”.

Correspondence, media releases, publicity material, reservation forms for screening, reviews. 1975-1978.

Box 52

Box 56

"Opening speech to the Second National Aboriginal Writers held in Melbourne 21 November 1983" (typescript).

“Teachers” (poem, typescript).

Series B: Correspondence

This collection contains a large amount of incoming correspondence. The correspondence covers the broad range of Oodgeroo Noonuccal's activities and interests. It covers her activities as a writer and guest speaker. There is a considerable amount of correspondence from Aboriginal organisations, government departments and politicians.

The bulk of the correspondence is in the 1970s and 1980s.
There are approximately 11 boxes of correspondence. The extent of the correspondence is difficult to estimate because correspondence is scattered in various files throughout the collection. The correspondence is mostly incoming letters. There is only a small amount of outgoing letters.

Within the current arrangement of the collection, there are some boxes only containing correspondence. However correspondence is also contained in subject related files kept by Oodgeroo. In some instances, Oodgeroo Noonuccal clipped her reply to the copy of the incoming letter. These replies have been kept with the incoming letter.

There are letters from Oodgeroo's publishers, requests from community and educational organisations to participate in events, readings and academic programs. There are also letters from various literary organisations.

Another large section of the correspondence is with government departments and a number of politicians.

Letters from numerous Aboriginal organisations can be located in the correspondence files as well as in the subject related folders.

Other letters and greeting cards are from friends and supporters. Letters from children, high school and tertiary students and teachers form another large section of the correspondence.

For the purposes of this finding aid, no container locations have been given for the correspondence. An in-house interim guide to the papers can be used to locate particular items.

A partial name list of correspondents has been produced. See correspondence list in the Appendix

Series E: Papers relating to Stradbroke Island/Moongalba

The papers in this series relate to Oodgeroo's involvement in Stradbroke Island issues in general, and also more specifically to Moongalba on Stradbroke Island.
Stradbroke Island, where Oodgeroo Noonuccal was born and spent much of her life, is in Moreton Bay, off the coast of Brisbane, Queensland. It has been home for many years to the Noonuccal people, who call the island Minjerriba. The papers relating to Stradbroke Island reflect Oodgeroo's involvement in issues such as opposition to sand-mining on the island, and opposition to a proposed bridge connecting Stradbroke Island with the mainland.

Moongalba was established by Oodgeroo as a cultural education centre in 1971. It was visited extensively by school children, as well as teachers, students, academics, writers and others. Oodgeroo was initially granted a twenty-five year lease to the land by the Redland Shire Council; this was later extended to her lifetime. However, she was never granted legal title to the land, despite the support of many influential people. In 1979 Oodgeroo prepared a submission to the federal Department of Aboriginal Affairs, requesting financial assistance and support in obtaining title to the land. Her application was never answered.
